

RAINY DAY

Sometimes they ask about you
They know I've moved on
Even with your cheating and lies
They wonder, they wonder what went wrong
They could not see
That it wasn't meant to be
But walking on broken glass made a believer out of me
But the sun continued to rise
Or so they say
I am still waiting for the clouds to lift
That the price is paid

What if every day's a rainy day
What if every day's a rainy day?
Should I waste my time waiting for sunshine
Should I still believe?
What if every day's a rainy day
What if every day's a rainy day?
It's been so long, since you've been gone
Just between you and me
Some things make alone feel lonely

I could let down my guard
Someone could show me how
To escape the shadows of the past
Live in the here and now
Maybe I should thank you
Cause I realize
That a life of broken promises
Is a life of lies.

I can't believe that I still think
About our happy times
You pushed my sanity to the brink
Nearly lost my mind
I heard about all those fish in the sea
And God knows I ain't made for you and me
